Since the war he has filled several public positions, as a member of the Legislature, Adju- MICHIGAN .tant-General of the State, and Postmaster of San Francisco. The latter place he yet holds, but will soon transfer it to President Cleveland's appointee. He has been a member of the Grand Army since 1867, has been Commander of Lincoln Post, No. 1, and Department Commander, and always active and earnest in the interests of the order. It is said the Grand Army of California contains representatives from every Massachusetts regiment and organization that served in the war except the 10th 54th and 55th infantry, the two latter being So liberal were the contributions of the people of MISSOURI.

San Francisco for the entertainment of the Grand Army Encompment, that notwitistanding the bounteens hand with which hospitality was dispensed, a surplus of several thousand dollars remained unexpended. At a meeting of the General Committee of the G.A.R. the matter of disposing of this surplus was discussed. A circular was issued by Gen. Dinmond, Controller of the Finance Committee, asking that any surplus amount remaining from the fund angle be devoted to the construction of a cottage at the Soldiers' Home at Yountville. There was a general feeling in favor of the object, which is generally considered as the most advantageous, and there is little doubt that an addition to the Soldiers' Blame will be made.
